International Conference class – second semester 2024

Instructors:

Professor Tozawa Hidenori

Assistant Professor Zavarce Carlos

Language of instruction: English

Overview

This course aims to introduce participants to basic research skills, including academic writing and presentations. During the semester, participants will have the opportunity to present their research progress and/or their papers.

Requirements and grading

Participants will have to read and discuss papers and chapters from assigned books and make weekly presentations about the lesson's topic. We will primarily focus on basic research skills, especially academic writing and presentations, which are essential in sharing knowledge with peers. At the end of the semester, participants will be asked to make a final presentation about their current research topic and progress.

The syllabus, required readings, and other important information will be uploaded to the course's Google Classroom.

Classroom code: 45h24cs
